NOTES

This list, a work in progress, was prepared by members of the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia at the request of Wolf Trap National Park. It is a compilation of birds seen by ASNV survey teams from June 2013 through May 2014. ASNV plans to continue its effort in order to provide a more complete view of the bird life supported by this magnificent park.

The Wolf Trap survey is only one of many surveys conducted by ASNV to investigate and document the status of wildlife in Northern Virginia. ASNV participates in the annual Christmas bird count, an international survey dating back to 1900. Since 1995, ASNV has been conducting the Northern Virginia Bird Survey each June, to research bird breeding trends in the area. And in the Occoquan area, ASNV members are surveying butterfly populations.

These and other counts and surveys depend on hundreds of dedicated volunteers and supporters. ASNV thanks them all sincerely.

Birds of Wolf Trap National Park for the Performing Arts

Eastern Bluebird

A preliminary checklist, prepared by the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia

This list is based on a survey of birds at Wolf Trap National Park, performed by the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia, from June 2013 through May 2014. The abbreviations show the frequency with which species were seen in each season.

A—Abundant—observed over 90% of the time
C—Common—observed 35-90% of the time
U- Uncommon— observed 10-35% of the time
O—Occasional—observed under 10% of the time

Seasonal abbreviations:

Sp—March-May
S— June-August
F—September-November
W- December-February
